Wolfgang Jenewein/Marcus Heidbrink
High Performance Teams
The five principles of success for management and cooperation
201 pp., hardbound
EUR 39.95
ISBN 978-3-7910-2293-2
2008

General Business Administration / Public Administration / Management

Dream Teams - What Makes them Better? What differentiates average teams from those that are real achievers? What characterises good team management? And what is needed to mobilise that legendary last quantum of energy that is necessary for first-rate performance? On the basis of five principles for success, the authors show how teams can be managed at the highest level. Examples of dream teams from the worlds of business and sports show the way to the top. One of them is the 2006 German world cup football team.

About the Authors:
Dr. Wolfgang Jenewein, Managing Director of the Executive MBA, St. Gallen and Lecturer for Leadership and Entrepreneurship at the Universities of St. Gallen, Innsbruck and Toronto

Intended Audience:
Management personnel and team leader from all areas of business; trainers and specialised corporate consultants

Key Features:
1 Guidelines for optimising teamwork
2 Readily applicable solutions for every team and leadership situation
3 Exclusive sample cases from business and sports, including: ABB, Alinghi, and the 2006 German World Cup championship team