
Ruth Simsa/Michael Meyer/Christoph Badelt (Editors)
The Handbook of the Nonprofit Organisation
Structures and Management
5th revised edition
558 pp., 46 b/w illustrations, 34 tables, hardbound
EUR 49.95
ISBN 978-3-7910-3191-0
Now available

Public Administration

Environment, migration, health, youth and education - NPOs are involved in many areas. More than ten years ago, it was still important to draw attention to their economics and business administration. NPOs are now extremely professional, especially in their management. Too professional? "Managerialism" and "excessive business orientation " are two current developments that the authors have detected. This means that: It would be better for NPOs to return to the purpose of their business - their mission. But is it possible to think economically and still also strive for and achieve social goals? Above all, NPO management is now a balancing act between business and values.

About the Authors:
Adjunct Prof. Dr. Ruth Simsa;
Prof. Dr. Michael Meyer, NPO Institute, Vienna University of Economics and Business Administration (WU);
Prof. Dr. Christoph Badelt, Rector of the WU Vienna

Intended Audience:
1 Employees of non-profit organisations
2 Students

Key Features:
1 A classic NPO handbook for anyone active in NPO management
2 Contributions from NPO research, by authors who are in direct contact with NPOs
3 Important for NPOs today: project and process management, leadership, innovations and social entrepreneurship, evaluation, effectiveness measurement and governance